DUPLICATE SECURITIES.

ALLEN EXPECTED TO' CONFESS EVERY. THING.

TWO BOGUS CERTIFICATES OF THE SAME NUM. BER-HOFELE DOES NOT TELL A

STRAIGHT STORY. Ferdinand W. Hofele, the business partner of Eben S. Allen, who, as president of the Forty-second Street and Grand Street Ferry Railroad Company, is charges with having realized over $125,000 on issues fraudulent stock of the company and is now awaiting trial for forgery, was arraigned in the Tombs Police Court yesterday morning before Justice Hogan charged with complicity in the crime. Hefele had been arrested on Thursday by Inspector Byrnes, who was of the opinion that the circumstances as far as developed warranted the belief that Hofele was aware developed warranted the benefit that of the illegality of the hypothecated securities and of the illegality of the hypothecated securities and therefore equally culpable with Allen. Detective Titus told Justice Hogan that Inspector Byrnes desired to have Hofele remanded until to day, and the Justice issued an order to that effect. Hofele was then taken back to Police Headquarters and locked up. Preling H. Smith, counsel of the railroad company, who had gone hway to the Adirondacks on a vacation, returned to the city late on Thursday night and at once held a conference with the officers of the com pany, at which Elmer A. Allen, the guilty official's brother, was present. Mr. Allen told Mr. Smith that he was anxious to have his brother make a full statement of his fraudulent operations at once and offered to use his efforts to secure this. Accordingly he went to the Tombs yesterday to see his brother, but later inothe day informed Mr. Smith that his brother was pot feeling well, and that a statement could not be Namee,

Mr. Smith told a Tribune reporter yesterday that no fraudulent certificates had come to light in addition to the 648 already accounted for, although it now out of the city. The fact that at least one of the American Republican Club! fraudulent certificates had been duplicated by Alien would indicate a possibility that a system of duplicate hypothecation had been carried to an extent that might prove alarming. At any rate, Mr. Smith hoped that all holders of stock who had not collected their dividends within thirty days would do so at once, in order that the nature of their certificates might be promptly established. Mr. Smith preferred not to the liability of the company for the sums loaned on the bogus stock at the present time.

ALLEN BREAKING DOWN.

Allen spent a restless night in his cell in the Tombs. At breakfast time the visitor's wife visited him in ble-cell, remaining with him for an hour. She returned for another brief visit in the afternoon.

There is no doubt that Allen has broken down cometely, and will give the officials of the company a full list of the fraudulent certificates. It is thought probable, however, that he will adhere to his state in blank by Presidents Green and Curtis, so as to bring his grime within the scope of forgery in the third degree, and thus avoid a Hability to receive a sentence of the President:

of the President: ment that the fraudulent certificates had been signed for a longer term than five years. Yesterday was evidently one of great mental trouble for Allen, and he declined to see any of his visitors except his wife, counsel and brother.

J. E. Eustis, Allen's coursel, said vesteriay that Elmer A. Allen received thisty-two shares of stock from his brother last spring. President Allen, he said, ewed his brother Elmer 86,000 borrowed money, Elmer needed the money and asked his brother for it. Ebon said, practically: "I can't give you the eash, but I can les you have some stock on which you can Accordingly, he gave Elmer thirtytwo shares, on which he secured $6,000 from the Fifth Avenue National Bank, When the displosures fol lowed Allen's arrest, Elmer went to his brother and nsked if the shares he received were fraudulent. "They are the same as the rest," was the reply.

This accounts for the full number of 700 shares which Allen confessed to having fraudulently issued, or rather for 701 shares, if one counts the duplicate hypothecation of one share, but Mr. Smith, the company's counsel, had evidently not been informed of the transfer of these thirty-two shares when he said that only 60s shares had been accounted for. The blow is a severe one to Elmer A. Allen, who not only is likely to lose the $0,000 owed to him by his brother, but may have to make restitution of a like amount to the bank in case the railroad company is held to be not liable for the fraudulent issue of

ADVISED TO CONFESS EVERYTHING.

Mr. Eustis said further that he did not care to be identified with criminal cases and would probably withdraw as Allen's counsel. He was convinced, he said, that Allen was endeavoring to shield some one sinence than Hofele, and would not be surprised at further unpleasant developments in volving others beside Allen and Hofele. He had advised Allen to make the best terms he could and George H. Prentiss & Co., brokers, No. 37 William at, who purchased certificates for 439 shares of the fraudulent stock, have placed their interests in the case in the hands of ex-Attorney-General Leslie W. Russell, who, however, is at present out of town.

The question of the liability of the company is interesting all of those concerned in the affair just now. It has been urged that the issue depends upon the provisions of the bylaws of the corporation regulating the issue of its stock, and whether by them Mr. Allen, as president, was in control of the stock books with authority to issue certificates. In the trial of Schuyler, who was treasurer, director and transfer agent of the New-York, New-Haven and Hartford Railroad Company, for issuing bogus stock, it was held that if the certificates were issued by the proper officer and apparently in accordance with the provisions of the hylaws of the company a holder of a fraudulent certificate so issued could recover from the company. In the light of this decision it seems that in case of a confession by Allen that he had actually forged the names of Presidents Green and Curtis to the fraudulent certificates, all such shares ould be absolutely worthless and the company no liable. This may account for the vehemence of the officials of the company in their prosecution of Allen, who by being forced into such a confession might, if the interpretation of the law in the precedent case holds good in this, save the company's treasury over 8125,000.

HOFELE AT POLICE HEADQUARTERS

Hofele could not be seen at Police Headquarters yesterday. Immediately on leaving the Tombs he caused a telegram to be sent to J. Langdon Ward, of the firm of Storrs, Wagstaff & Ward, lawyers, at the Equitable Building, begging him to come to his assistance. Mr. Ward went immediately to Police Headquarters and remained for a long time in consultation with his client. Afterward Mr. Ward went to the Fifth Avenue and other banks where Hefele had piaced the certificates, and late in the afternoon returned to Police Headquarters and had another long talk with Hofels.

WHAT THE INSPECTOR SAYS.

To a Tribune reporter Inspector Byrnes said: " Hofele's story is proved by the bare facts of the case to be altogether false. He has first said that the money was his own, received in payment for thirteen patents; then he says that the money raised by him on the stock was invested in the iro for thirteen patents; then he says that the money raised by him on the stock was invested in the iron business, whereas the articles of partnership provided that Allen should find all the money. Now, according to what you tell me, his friends declare that he himself ordered the sale of the stock in order to get back money he had loaned to Allen. If this be the case, why does Hofele say that the imoney was invested in the iron works?

"To my mind, the fact that Hofele passed two separate certificates for the same amount of stock, and bearing the same number, proves his guilty inoviced; of the fraud beyond a shadow of a doubt, in considering the circumstances one has to remember first and last that Hofele is a smart, bright, clover man of business, and the least likely to be deceived by Allan or any one else. In explanation of his having hypothecated the two certificates, both numbered 976, he says he did not notice the similarity between them. If he, as he declares, advanced money to Allen (in good faith) on one set of securities, and was afterward asked for another loan on the same wind of stock, do you not suppose he would carefully examine each of the certificates and keep a record of all transactions. His explanation is simply worthless." Speaking of Hofele, Mr. Bytness expressed the belief that he had always been an honest, industrious man up to the time of his connection with Allen. He is a native of Germany, to forty, three years old and came to this country when a boy. For some time prior to 1879 he was connected with various theatrical road companies. Some vears no his first wife applied for and secured a divorce form him. Hofele, it is said, has not attended his business for some months except at rare intervals, but has spent his time in pleasure-seeking and has lived in an extravagant style.

Two executions were filed yesterday in the Sheriff's office against Allen, One was on behalf of his bother. Elmer, to Allen for 85,517 30, and the other one on behalf of the Putnam County Savings Bank for 87,229

A CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS AGAINST AN OF

quarters in this city. An indignant mother yesterday applied at the rooms of the Board of Education and made serious charges against the executive officer of the St. Mary' for mistreating her son, one of the boys on board. She aid her name was Weaver, and she was accompanied y the boy, a stalwart young fellow of eighteen. His mother said that Lieutenant Wood had beaten the boy cruelly and she showed Mr. McMullin, the clerk of the board, marks on the boy's arms and neek, which she said were from these blows inflicted last Monday night. The officer she charged with being intoxicaled, and, in the absence of Commander Crowninhield, she said he had punished other boys of the ship by suspending them by the thumbs and whipping them with the rope's and. Mr. McMullin took the mother's statement, which he told her would be reported to the commander and the nautical committee charge of the schoolship.

Captain Crowninshield was in the city yesterlay and called on School Commissioner Devoe, who is chairman of the nautical committee. It is thought he returned to the schoolship at New-London last night. Mr. Devoe was greatly surprised at the statements made respecting Lieutenant Wood. The Commander, he said, had just given him an account of their trip, which had not been marred by any unpleasant incident. The executive officer had been popular, and he has a litch reputation in the service. Mr. Devoe said that there were a few had boys on the ship, whom the officers had been obliged he watch closely, and he hoped these statements would prove to have been exaggerated by them. He said that he should request an investigation at once.

TO DEFRAUD THE GOVERNMENT.

AN ATTEMPT TO DO SOME JUGGLING WITH TO-BACCO IN BALE.

Special Deputy Collector McClelland, who is in charge of the Custom House during Collector Echarit's ence, yesterday informed secretary of the Treasury Windom of an ingenious attempt which some tobacco importers had made to defraud the Government. Importers are said to be well-known business men of Mr. McClelland refused to give their names for publication, but he gave out the facts of the case. Eleven bales of Sumatra tobacco were entered in bond at the Custom House on December 10, 1888. They were sent to a warehouse, the appraiser passed on them, and returned them as dutiable at 75 cents a pound. The difference in daily on leaf to-bacco is that the 100-leaf article is dutiable at 75 cents a pound, and that under 100 leaves 35 cents

The importers withdrew their tobacco from the warehouse on June 21, 1889, and experied it to Canada. But they reimported the same tobacco on July 24 from Canada into this country by way of St. Albans, Vt., entering it there in transit for this city. The officials at that port were deceived as to the number of leaves the bales had, and the appraiser there passed the tobacco as dutlable at 35 cents a pound. But when the bales reached this city the identity of the shipment was discovered. Appraiser Cooper examined every one of the bales, and found that they were dutiable at 75 cents a pound. At that rare the duty on the bales amounted to $1.302.75; at rare the duty on the bales amounted to $1.302.75; at rare the first per pound the duty would come to $649.95. This trick has been tried before. It was intimated yesterday that an indictment could be found against the importers concerned in this fraud.

HE SOLD HIS INTEREST TOO CHEAP.

George Webb says that he and his brother Joseph who were weavers by trade, came to this country nearly fifty years ago. Joseph bought lots on Har-lem Common and in what is now knewn as Central Park. He was attacked with cholers and died in 1849, leaving a wife and son in England. The son died in 1857 unmarried, and his mother died soon after. George Webb and his two sisters were the only beirs of the son. Mr. Webb states that a lawyer named Myers called on him last October and after questioning him about his relatives told him that he might possibly have a small interest in certain property of small value and gave him $500 to sign a deed conveying his interest in property at Ninetiethst, and Eighth-ave, to Julia Frank.

He afterward ascertained that the property in which he had a one-third interest was worth $50,000, and that deeds purporting to be executed by him, giving that deeds purporting to be executed by him, giving it to Julia Frank and Ottille Haag, had been recorded in the Register's office. The old couple got up early yesterday morring and Mrs. Hadler went out to buy some rolls for breakfast while her husband started to build a fire. She returned in ten minutes and found the door looked. Nobody answered when she called and she forced the door open. Just then her husband's box fell on the floor at her feet. He had hanged limself with a stout cord fasiened to the transom of the door, and the cord broke when she forced her way in.

AN IMPORTED LABORER SPEAKS OUT. United States District Attorney Walter began a sult vesterday against Adolph Witteman, of No. 58 Reade st, for $1,000 as penalty for an allered violation of the Alien Contract law. Carl Eagler, who was employed as a printer by Mr. Witteman, declares that his employer made a contract with him in Germany offering him $15 a week as wages. Baltzer complains that when he arrived here he was allowed to work for three or four days only each week, and that a part of his wases was deducted to pay for his passage to this country.
